

3-DAY TRAINING: Barracuda CGF01

The Barracuda CloudGen Firewall F-Series is a family of hardware, virtual, and cloud-based appliances designed to protect a company's dispersed network infrastructure. The F-Series cloud-ready firewalls improve site-to-site connectivity and enable uninterrupted access to applications hosted in the cloud all while simplifying the administration of network operations for enterprises and managed services providers.

WHAT CAN YOU LEARN IN THIS TRAINING?

This 3-day course provides insight into the concept of modern firewall architecture by looking specifically at Barracuda NG Firewall products. The seminar includes installing, configuring, and operating a Barracuda NG Firewall. Part of the course is hands-on and offers practical tips and problem-solving strategies for company networks.

This Training is NEW and now covers the course items of the Barracuda Introduction and CGF01 Training.

Audience

This technical training is intended for resellers and end-users that are new or who want to expand their knowledge of Barracuda's Next-Gen firewall platform.

Prerequisites

Basic knowledge of TCP/IP and networking is recommended. This training requires the use of your own laptop.

Objective

In this training you'll learn how to configure, monitor and troubleshoot the various firewall components of the Barracuda Next-Gen firewalls that are typically used in today's environments. This Training is NEW and now covers the course items of the Barracuda Introduction and CGF01 Training.
