Kappa Data Group Expands Portfolio with Launch of New Business Unit – ExperTechno

De Pinte, 13 March, 2024

Kappa Data, a leading distributor of network and security solutions, is enhancing its portfolio with the launch of a new business unit: ExperTechno. With the establishment of ExperTechno, Kappa Data Group is set to undertake specialized projects for resellers, enabling them to deploy their technical resources towards more engaging tasks.

Implementations and Rollouts

Leverage our services to successfully complete rollouts and standard implementations. Avoid allocating your highly skilled technical personnel to mundane staging tasks, standard configurations, or product logistics preparation. Utilize ExperTechno to organize and coordinate these aspects without burdening your organization further.

ExperTechno can handle the complete deployment of your large projects, both domestically and internationally. We also offer the option to include additional items such as cables, manuals, stickers, etc.

By combining our partners' software with our team's hardware expertise, we build your solution together.

OEM Projects

In addition to offering standard services, ExperTechno specializes in building hardware appliances based on partner-developed software/applications. This includes product customization, encompassing design, prototyping, customized tools for RMA management, and more. We take into account the specifications or assist you in defining them, in order to work on a test and validation prototype.

In essence, whether you have special projects or deployments, or if you aim to bring your hardware solution to market, reach out to us, and we'll gladly discuss the possibilities.
